

Access to Different Food Sources by Minority Communities

This map serves the purpose of illustrating the lack of variety of food sources concerning minority communities. In this analysis it was discovered that only 76% of minority groups live within 1 mile of a farmers market, while 88% of minority groups lived within 1 mile of one fast food restaurant. This analysis was based on census tracts rather than individuals, so the values calculated in this analysis are likely to have a margin of error.
